Community health discussion

Intel is concerned on the progress being made by the ODIM project in terms of recruiting OEM vendors and operators. In contrast OCP has conformance from members concentrated on hardware. For eg. Edge core has started a project on device manager(Note: Edge core representative Taskin Ucpinar will talk about this on the 1st of September). We are thinking if we should collaborate in the OCP community to get traction and feedback. We need members to participate in architecting and building vendor implementations using ODIM.
